The World of Serra at a Glance

Serra's Objectives

- To foster and promote vocations to the ministerial priesthood in the Catholic Church as a particular vocation to service, and to support priests in their sacred ministry;
- To encourage and affirm vocations to consecrated religious life in the Catholic Church; and
- To assist its members to recognize and respond in their own lives to God's call to holiness in Jesus Christ and through the Holy Spirit.

Who Are Serrans?

Today, approximately 16,000 lay Catholic women and men, and those ordained to the permanent diaconate, work under the patronage of Saint Junípero Serra to fulfill the objectives of Serra International. Active on all six habitable continents, more than 500 active Serra clubs comprise our organization. Inspired by the unwavering determination which drove our patron to journey tens of thousands of miles (much of that on foot), establishing a string of nine missions that would form the backbone of modern-day California and bring the Gospel to the New World. Serrans are dedicated to fostering and promoting vocations to the ministerial priesthood and vowed religious life.

How Is Serra Organized?

The basic unit of Serra International is the local club. Clubs are organized into districts, and the districts are organized into national councils where appropriate. Presently there are 10 national councils: Great Britain, Brazil, Spain, Italy, Mexico, Philippines, USA, Australia, Canada, and Thailand. In the United States, districts are organized into 14 regions that are identical to the regions established by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB). In Brazil, Serran districts are organized into 10 regions that are identical to the Brazilian Bishops Conference. Serra International has a Board of Trustees composed of Serrans from across the globe.

Meetings and Conferences

The Serra International Board meets at least three times during the year. Meetings are held before and after the Serra International Convention and at least once between conventions, usually in January.

Historical Information

Four Catholic lay men formed the first Serra club in 1935 in Seattle, Washington. The founding Serrans chose as their organization's patron Saint Junípero Serra, the 18th-century Franciscan missionary to Mexico and California. Serra was canonized on Sept. 23, 2015 in Washington, D.C. Serra International is aggregated to the Vatican's Sacred Council for Catholic Education and the Pontifical Work for Priestly Vocations.
